24th September.
On Saturday morning a numerous affray broke out among the steamer passengers as the day advanced the wharf. Shortly before the time of departure a number of passengers went on board, and certain of their number fell to quarrelling with some of the men engaged in the vegetable business. The quarrel was taken up by partisans on either side and there was soon a free fight between the two factions on the "Weed-shoots, bamboo and any other weapon that came in hand." A number of empty jars on board were made use of for missiles. The soldiers were sent to quell the riot, but before they arrived several men had received some nasty wounds.

The Nanking Magistrate has been temporarily deprived of his position on account of the riot of the 10th inst. having occurred within his jurisdiction. Presently it will be restored to him when the affair is settled.

About 1,500 soldiers, newly enrolled in the neighbourhood in front of the Temple, have arrived here and have been told off to garrison the forts of Canton.

Five small smuggling junks were captured the other day near the Boca Tigris. The salt on board weighed about 55,000 catties, and the crews of the small all escaped to shore and got away.

25th September.

On Monday night a fire broke out in Canton, caused by burning joss paper in some small houses, and about half a dozen dwellings of a poor description were destroyed.

There are various rumours of dire threats against the foreigners in connection with Lo's case, and the bark of the persons who make use of them is probably much worse than their bite, as their bark is not often matched by their bite.

One smuggling that is to be noted is that of a man in the place if Lo is not charged, and to intercept the river steamer with bamboo boats on the way down, to capture him and kill everyone on board. The most likely idea, however, is to bayonet the foreign community by threatening destruction to any sympathizing them with provisions. However, these rumours are not devoid only of the empty boasting of a few scoundrels, and no weight is attached to them. All in all, there is a reason to fear any inciting for the present.

H.E.M.'S SUPREME COURT IN CHINA.

CRIMINAL JURISDICTION.

CANTON, 26TH SEPTEMBER, 1883.

BEFORE SIR R. T. BENNIS, CHIEF JUSTICE.

THE FATAL SHOOTING APPEAL AT HONAN.

James Henry Logan, an outdoor officer of the Chinese Imperial Maritime Customs, was brought before the Court charged with the murder of one Pak Wah King, at Honan, on the 10th August.

H. S. S. Wilkinson, Crown Advocate, appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. J. Francis, instructed by Mr. E. Evans, solicitor to the Chinese Government, appeared to watch the case on behalf of Mr. E. Evans's client.

Mr. Fang, the Chinese Consul, and now Superintendent of Taxation, was present, represented H. E. the Vicereyn, taking a seat in the bench beside the Chief Justice. Dr. Hanes, the Acting British Consul, being on the other side. Mr. S. King, Pak, Sub-Magistrate, was also present, space being reserved for Chinese officials.

Mr. J. Dyer Ball, Chief Interpreter, &c., of the Hongkong Supreme Court, attended to act as Chinese interpreter.

A guard of about half a dozen marines from H. M. S. Swift was on duty in the vicinity of the court.

The Clerk of the Court, Mr. Malcolm Jones, read the Proclamation, and then read the following counts on which the prisoner was charged:

First: That when on the 26th August, 1882, in this behalf, in his proper person came into his Britannic Majesty's Supreme Court for China and Nanking, he, before Sir Richard Temple Ronalp, Knight, Chief Justice, &c., on Thursday, the 24th day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three, following the custom of the Chinese, and of the ecclesiastic and other Chinese about, charged to the prisoner:—“Hed! has that is to say—

“You have wounded her in the boat. My son was 12 years old, and he was also a swimmer. He was swimming, and my son went to the said hotel street in Nan Nong to buy salt fish. This street is in Honan, at Chuan Tan Tien. I did not see my son alive again after he went to buy the fish. He went at six o'clock, and I heard that he was killed at half-past six. I saw my son body at o'clock; he was dead. I saw by the wounds on his body that he had been struck on his back, and the stick which inflicted the wound had passed through the back of his body. He was wounded until the woman pointed out to her that she was bleeding from her back, and then she found she had a wound on her back. The prisoner, having fired the pistol, returns again to the west towards his own house, and he is followed by the woman, who was shouting to him: ‘You have wounded my son in the boat.’ The ecclesiastic and other Chinese about, charged to the prisoner:—“Hed! has that is to say—

“You have wounded her in the boat. The prisoner then became excited, and he proceeded to his own house, and brought the woman to his house, and sitting close to his house. He went to his door, and so I got to his door, and I heard that he was so little he got to the fifth. The first one, he makes no remonstrance, but when he gets to the fifth, that man asks what he means by hitting him; he says:—“I was not aiming you, and why do you strike me in this way?”

Logan then, it appears, became excited, and he proceeded to his own house, and brought the woman to his house, and sitting close to his house. The Chinese in this street, when they saw him coming out with his friends, ran in every direction, and got out the way as fast as they could. The Chinese, this street towards the west and fire, and a citizen of the foreigner's house, who was shouting to him: ‘You have wounded my son in the boat.’ The ecclesiastic and other Chinese about, charged to the prisoner:—“Hed! has that is to say—
